

Inspiring Knowledge Exchange Through an Open-access Journal: Global Opportunities for Knowledge Translation

Speaker: Nicole Martino, PhD, OTR/L

Contributing Authors:

Stacy Smallfield, DrOT, OTR/L, BCG, FAOTA

Nancy E. Krusen, PhD, OTR/L, FAOTA

Occupational Therapy Program,
College of Allied Health Professions

Heather Brown, MA

Scholarly Communications Librarian
McGoogan Health Sciences Library

No financial disclosures

go.unmc.edu/tso

University of Nebraska
Medical CenterSM

Bridging the Research-Practice Gap

Research Barriers

- Limited research access
- Time constraints
- Complex academic language

Best Practice

- Evidence-informed care
- Real-world impact

Translational Science in Occupation

- Global exchange of ideas

Connecting scholarship with real-world practice

Our Unique Approach

Knowledge User Engagement

- Community partners, practitioners, patients, policy makers

Knowledge Translation Takeaway

- Practical, actionable steps

Plain Language Summaries

- Accessible and relevant to broad audience

Open Access

- No author fees, immediately available

Translating Knowledge Across the Globe

Growth

- Website launch: 2023
- First issue: April 2024
- 2 volumes
- 6 issues
- 26 published works

Global Reach

- 3875 abstract views
- 7519 downloads
- Readers from 527 institutions across 126 countries

